AND GRAY

Dedicated to the free education of a democracy

Where students learn because of incentive and not because of fear of punishment.

Where the educational process strengthens the foundations of our state, by teaching unprejudicially those things upon which our democracy exists—liberty, justice, kindness, and equality.

It is a process by which each generation absorbs the knowledge and experience of its forbears, furthers that knowledge and experience, and records it in many varied ways for the next generation.

It is a process where today's child of nonentity can become tomorrow's man of destiny.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Fletcher Kemp
Superintendent

Board of Education

Left to right: Mr. John M. Stewart; Mr. Jackson W. Ross; Mrs. Lucy G. Bussey, chairman; Rev. Walter F. Wolf; Mr. Benjamin F. Smith.

Mr. Claude M. Richmond
Principal

To the Class of 1943:

You are graduating into a turbulent world, but I know by the admirable manner in which you have conducted yourselves here that you have the courage to face it, the determination to see it through and the wisdom to contribute to the prevention of its recurrence.

In the face of great distraction on the home front you have devoted yourselves faithfully to the all-important job of carrying on. I know your performance on whatever other front in which you may become active will be equally creditable.

Many of you will soon be bearing arms for your country. Some of the more impatient, indeed, have already gone ahead. I hope Washington-Lee has contributed, not only to your technique in waging war, but also to the happy, constructive life that lies beyond the chaotic but, fortunately, brief period in which we now find ourselves.

No graduating class of Washington-Lee has scattered as you will scatter, and none will be welcomed more warmly on its return.

In Memoriam

We understand death for the first time when he puts his hand upon someone we love.

This year, a dear classmate, James Page Bussey, departed from us. We, of the student body, were deeply grieved. But let us hearten in these immortal words of Clarke:

Death, to a good man, is but passing through a dark entry out of one little dusky room of his father's house, into another that is fair and large, light and glorious.

Washington-Lee Cadet Corps

The Washington-Lee Cadet Corps made many forward strides during the school year 1942-'43, despite numerous handicaps. A seemingly crushing blow was dealt the First Battalion when the Government recalled the Springfield rifles which the boys had used for drilling in previous years.

The enrollment of the Corps was greater than ever before. The Corps was led by Lieutenant-Colonel Harold Tidler, and Majors Eddie Grant, Jack Cradlin, and Shirley Gochenour. Under the sponsorship of Captain Harrison S. Beavers and Major Sadie Williams, the Regiment completed a notable year.

In September the First Battalion was formed, composed of Companies A, B, and D, under Captains Bussey, (whose untimely death later on caused his replacement by Captain Tom Brown), Pfeiffer, and Howell, respectively. In February the Battalion went through a face-lifting which provided for the formation of Company C.

In a competitive drill between Companies A, B, and C, March 29, Company B was triumphant. On April 15 the Regiment presented an assembly and held their annual Regimental Ball.

The Second Battalion was inspected on March 29. Company I, under Captain Jean Jones, won. Companies L, under Captain Gerry Ping, and K, under Captain Helen Maley, followed. The girls' Crack Squad, under Lieutenants Judith Davis and Jocelyn Packard, has been added this year. The boys' Crack Squad led by Lieutenants Reiners and Wolford upheld its reputation for precision using wooden rifles.

W-L Band

The W-L Cadet Band, composed of 50 members under the direction of Mr. Yassel and his most able subordinate Major Bobby Stewart, is an integral part of the school.

During the football season the band played and marched for all the important games. At the Thanksgiving game with G. W. the band represented W-L in a fine way in putting on its show during the half. G-W's band has always given us the most competition and we always work hard when she is watching. At the basketball games late in the season the band was also present. When the student government has called on the band to support the pep rallys, it has always done so. When the weather is better and parades become more frequent our band expects to be in many of them. The band represents the third battalion of the Cadet Corps. It is active in all cadet functions and supports all their activities with its lively music. We plan to institute an annual band assembly. These plans are still being worked on and dare to be put into effect toward the latter part of the year.

For all the musical minded students in W-L, the band provides a musical outlet. Mr. Yassel trains the inexperienced ones until they meet the qualifications. This training is very beneficial to those who really take an interest in it. Several of the boys who were in the W-L Band in the past years are now with popular bands and are taking in a sizable income.

Student Government

The Washington-Lee Student Government is dependent directly upon the student body. The council itself is composed of three officers, the Class Presidents of the tenth through the twelfth grades, and the June Senior Class Vice-President, all of which are elected directly by the students. The Student Government also includes a Forum whose membership is made up of the homeroom presidents.

The main purpose of the Student Council is to represent the students in the operation of the school by cooperation between the students and the faculty, and to do everything possible to improve our school's prestige, organization, and appearance.

The success of the 1943 Student Government was made possible by the cooperation and fine spirit of the Washington-Lee Student Body.

Kalagethos

Kalagethos, the Washington-Lee Chapter of the National Honor Society, was organized several years ago to provide for the school a service club, in which the membership is restricted by high standards of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

This year, the Society, under the sponsorship of Miss Loving, conducted such activities as a party and dance for the students who were new to the school this year; the annual Christmas reunion for the graduate members; and, most important, the vocational assembly, which provided the student body with information and guidance concerning their part in planning for the future of their country.

Elos

Elos, the Literary Society of Washington-Lee, was founded in 1939-40. The Society is for the purpose of encouraging and furthering literary endeavor in the high school. Until this year Elos has sponsored W-L's participation in the Virginia Literary League contests, but due to wartime restrictions, W-L was unable this year to compete. The club hopes that after the war this sponsorship will be resumed.

At meetings the members present programs dealing with all types of literature, past and present.

Elos will continue as an active factor in the school due to the induction of juniors and sophomores before the seniors' graduation.

Washington-Lee

The year 1942-1943 was a memorable one in the history of the Glee Clubs of Washington-Lee, for it was during this year that the clubs secured their robes. Maroon in color, the boys' in collegiate style, the girls' with egg shell surplices, they add uniformity and dignity to the appearance of the groups.

While this year brought a recital of greater artistic merit than that of any past year, it also marked the withdrawal for the duration of the Music Festival in Richmond.

Glee Clubs

Activities this season included, besides the Recital, the traditional Christmas program offered by the Girls' Glee Club to the churches of the community, participation at all chapel services, and assistance at the annual Christmas Pageant.

It also appeared before numerous church groups and Parent-Teacher's Associations, presented the Madrigal Singers to Miss Leslie Frost's School, and sang in the Bridal Chorus at the weddings of two Washington-Lee alumnae.

The attendance of seventeen Washington-Lee boys and girls at the Virginia State High School Music Camp at Massanetta Springs during June, 1942 did much to prepare the Glee Clubs for the highly successful year of 1942-1943.

Washington-Lee Orchestra

The Orchestra began its second season under the leadership of Mr. Page with the addition of several new instruments, making possible the study and preparation of a wider variety of scores than had previously been practical. In addition, an arrangement with the Public Library of the District of Columbia, gave a still larger range of attempts than in past years, since music could be borrowed and the Orchestra's music fund would not be depleted. As a result of this agreement with the Library, such scores as the Mozart G Minor Symphony, The Overture to the Marriage of Figaro, and other such compositions were studied by the group just for purposes of practice in reading and sectional balance.

Highlights of the Orchestral year have included playing for both graduating classes, the preparation of programs for all three assembly groups, and of course, the organization's own annual spring concert in May. The end of the school year finds those who will return looking forward with increasing expectations for next season's accomplishments in spite of the unsettled conditions which will face them.

Officers for the year 1942-43 have included as President, Jerry Johnson, Secretary-Treasurer, Dice Cigledy, and Librarian, Janet Johnson. Mildred Boyland acted as concert master during the first semester, Janet Johnson during the second.

The complete instrumentation for the year has been composed of the following:

Violins	'Cellos	Oboes	Robert Friauf	French Horn

Hi-Y Club

MR. THOMAS JACKSON

Sponsor

A spirit of fellowship bound together by ideals of clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living is the goal of the forty members of this service club. Initiation into the club is considered by those who meet the standards of membership as one of the greatest honors of the school.

During the two week "trial" period prior to formal induction, prospective members learn the first rule of strong character, to respect the rights of others (particularly Hi-Y members).

Under the whole-hearted and capable sponsorship of Mr. Jackson, the club during the year conducted a campaign in which nearly 4000 old keys were collected and added to the nations diminishing rare-metal scrap piles. The members helped clean the school grounds on several Saturday afternoons and on others went to the Y. M. C. A., with which the club is affiliated.

The club also sent representatives to the annual regional convention in Annapolis, sponsored informal social events, invited speakers on subjects of education and character to the weekly meetings, and sponsored a campaign to stimulate contributions to the Red Cross blood bank.

Commercial Club

Delta Alpha Pi was organized last year for the advancement and the benefit of the Commercial students of Washington-Lee High School. The Greek words, Delta Alpha Pi, mean clever, skillful, excellence, fitness, faithful, loyal, and trusty. These are traits which the girls in this club believe a secretary should possess.

The club endeavors to further develop skill, speed, and accuracy in business subjects; to develop and improve personality by social activities and contacts; to broaden interests; to assist members of the club to secure employment; to increase the efficiency of its members by dictation classes and lectures; and to acquaint the girls with the leading books and periodicals in the commercial field.

With these purposes in mind the club has engaged in many varied activities. A Halloween Party was given in October in order that the girls might become better acquainted. The girls also enjoyed a St. Patrick's Day Party, and a tea in honor of the Seniors in the club. At the Fairfax-Washington-Lee football game, Delta Alpha Pi sponsored a hot dog sale, the proceeds of which were given toward paying on the Public Address System. In December the club gave a patriotic assembly program. An annual project of Delta Alpha Pi is to play Santa Claus to a needy family at Christmas time. Much sincere joy and satisfaction is derived each year from this activity. During the year, several speakers, representing various positions in the business world, were invited to speak to the club.

This year the members selected a distinctive club pin which is to be the standard pin of Delta Alpha Pi.

It is the sincere wish of each member and the sponsor that this club will continue to function and carry out its purposes in the future as it has since its organization in September, 1941.

Football Team

When the final gun went off ending the football season of 1942, the team looked back on what one might call a perfect record. The team was undefeated and untied during the entire year. Particular emphasis might be placed on the first score with National Training School, 73-0. This is a new district record for the number of points scored in any one game.

The team played as a unit, both offensively and defensively.

Perhaps the greatest thriller of the year, to players and supporters alike, was the Central game, played under the lights at Griffith Stadium. Both teams fought like lions for the entire playing period. It was nip and tuck. Then in the final few seconds, Mel Winfield crossed the goal line dragging two would-be tacklers after him, for a final score of 13-12.

To the satisfaction of everyone, the last game of the season ended with the "Old Oaken Bucket" still in possession of Washington-Lee.

Basketball Team

From the standpoint of score, the team did not fare so well, winning only three (3) games. However, in each game the team put up a fine fight as typified by the close scores. The team and coach were both under great handicap, both being new to each other.

The season, however, brought out some outstanding players, including Eddie Cox, James McNally, who joined the U. S. Marines in mid-season; Bobby Huff, who graduated in January, and high scorer, Bob Phillips, who was adjudged the school's most outstanding athlete and one of the best Washington Metropolitan Cagers.

Track Team

At the time this book went to press the track team was just rounding out to form. The indoor team made a fine record, winning the Virginia State Indoor meet at Charlottesville, and the high and prep division in the Catholic University meet at Uline Arena. The outdoor team shows very promising possibilities of a record year. Jack Ruckert, the outstanding member of the team, is ably supported by such members as Walter Warner, Mitchel Dick, Art Brown and Austin Brisbane. Dan Hahn and Phillip VanDorn are the two outstanding distance men.

Girls' Monogram Club

The Girls' Monogram Club was organized in 1933. Since then the club has been very active in various sport activities. The girls received their letters on approval of their teachers after participation in such sports as bowling, hockey, basketball, baseball, and swimming.

Formerly the girls sold candy at games. This year due to the shortage of candy the girls sold popcorn and megaphones.

The club is very small this year, composed of only six girls. Some Juniors and Sophomores and a few Seniors were taken into the club this spring.

The club has done much to keep up the morale of the school.

GRADUATION

The hours have been many,
The hours have been long,
The homework was heavy each day,
The questions you've answered,
And most of them wrong;
Are quickly now passing away.

The end you have sighted,
And proudly, delighted;
You've passed up the last written page;
But—when it's all done,
Just don't be the one
To stumble when crossing the stage!
